Books of the Month

—by Lisa Maruna, Marketing & PR Coordinator

Banned Books Week is an annual event celebrating the freedom to read. The celebration ends October 1, but we think it’s too important of an event to stop talking about it just yet! That’s why you may notice our staff “mugshots” decorating the lobby of the library. Each year, Banned Books Week brings together the entire book community in shared support of the freedom to seek and to express ideas, even those some consider unorthodox or unpopular.

How did you celebrate Banned Books Week? Not sure which books have been previously banned or challenged? Check out the list at ala.org/bbooks and stand up for your right to read.

Books to Movies

Read the book! Watch the movie! From the release of the 1923 silent film based on Victor Hugo’s The Hunchback of Notre Dame to the recent release of Sully, the film based on airplane pilot Chesley Sullenberger’s book titled Highest Duty, Hollywood has been adapting books to films. Adapting novels, plays, comic books, biographies, and nonfiction, filmmakers love bringing a good story to life.

Now you can compare the movie to your favorite book. Who did it better – author or director? Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library invites you to enjoy and compare titles such as To Kill a Mockingbird, Gone Girl, The Help, One Flew Over the Cuckoo’s Nest, The Monuments Men, Wild, True Grit, and many more. Watch for our special display during the month of October. •

Stow Cemetery Walking Tour
Fri., October 21, 2016
9:45 AM at Stow Cemetery

Meet some of Stow’s founding families by taking a tour of the Stow Cemetery. Join Local History Librarian Beth Daugherty to learn about our early settlers and their contributions to Stow’s community. See the gravestones of Jonathan Gaylord, Revolutionary War veteran, and his wife Elizabeth, both born in 1745. Elizabeth was the first burial in Stow Cemetery. Hear about prominent settler, Judge William Wetmore, who brought the first party of settlers to Stow Township in 1804. He became friendly with local Native American Chief Wagamong, and was a Veteran of the War of 1812. This walk will focus on the early section of the cemetery, which was developed on a portion of the Wetmore property, and will include a look at some of our well-known and not so well-known early local residents.

We will meet at 9:45 AM Friday, October 21 at the Stow Cemetery, 3162 Kent Road, Stow (across from Holy Family Church). Walk will begin at 10 AM. We encourage you to walk or carpool to the cemetery as parking is limited. Please park as close to the front section of the cemetery as possible. Dress for the weather and wear comfortable walking shoes! Call (330) 688-3295 ext. 4 to register. Please call if you need to cancel your reservation. This free program is cosponsored by the Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library and the Friends of the Library.

Haunted Cemeteries
Thurs., October 27, 2016
6:30 - 8 PM

Why do we wear black to funerals? Are cemeteries really haunted? Who would rob graves? Find the answers to these questions and more as Sherri Brake of Haunted Heartland Tours presents a unique, spooky, and sometimes funny look at headstones, gravestone symbolism, and graveyard rituals. Her presentation will cover haunted cemeteries, beautiful and scary headstones, Victorian customs and those dreaded “buried alive” stories. There will be a Q&A and book signing after the program. Click here to register. This free program is cosponsored by the Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library and the Friends of the Library.

Beth Daugherty, Local History Librarian
Hi! My name is Rusty and I’m a Cavalier King Charles Spaniel. That name sounds kind of fancy but in reality, I’m just a friendly, family dog. My parents rescued me from a puppy mill in Southern Ohio. No dog should have to begin their life in a puppy mill. No one cuddles you or even takes you to the vet. I love my vet, Dr. Blankenship, who takes great care of me.

Now, back to my family. I have a brother named Louie. Right from the start I knew Louie would watch over me. The first night I slept in my bed right next to him. I was really scared but Louie cuddled up right next to me and my mom put her hand in my bed so I wouldn’t cry.

Our house is always busy with lots of visitors - big and little people and lots of other dogs. One in particular is a big, Bernese Mountain Dog named Clyde who drops by every couple of weeks. Our parents take us on many hikes together throughout the Ohio and Erie Canal Towpath Trail. I love going on hikes! Since my mom works at the library, sometimes I get to go and visit the library staff. They are very kind to me and make me feel special. I just love everyone! Oh, I better go! I hear Mom coming home from work and I can’t wait to greet her. Bye!

College Finances

Tuesday, October 4—7:30 PM: Join us as Certified College Planner Joel Wymer of College Planning Strategies presents this free College Financial Planning Workshop. High school students and parents will learn strategies on how to pay for college without going broke. Come learn: The #1 way to get more free money for college; how to get the maximum amount of financial aid; why talented students may not receive financial aid for college; the secret to positioning your finances to get merit and needs-based aid and tips on the ACT, SAT & AP exams. Find out why: The new FAFSA rules will cost you thousands of dollars in financial aid and that you should never own a 529 plan or some other popular college savings plans (they may cause you to lose grants and other aid). Click here to register. This free program is cosponsored by the Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library and Joel Wymer. Click here to visit College Planning Strategies.

Just for Kids
—by Kristin Casale, Children’s Librarian

Jungle Bob’s Creepy Crawly Halloween Night

Monday, October 31—6:30 PM: Meet Jungle Bob’s spiders, cockroaches, creepy bugs and other animals that will put you in the Halloween spirit. Get to see some real animal bones and hear some spine-tingling true stories about animals and bugs. Come pick up your FREE tickets in the Children’s Department beginning Saturday, October 22. Feel free to wear a Halloween costume if you like, but it is not required.
Outreach Services for Children
—by Amanda Rome, Outreach Librarian—Children’s Services

Outreach to children is one of the core services of the Children’s Department. As the Children Services Outreach Librarian, I visit 11 preschools and daycares each month. Evie Kremyar assists me by visiting 2 facilities each month. In 2015, we performed 308 programs and served 9,641 people. We also send out materials to preschools, daycares and elementary schools. In 2015, we hand selected a total of 12,928 items for educational use.

In addition to all of this, we love visiting community sites and doing programs outside of the library. For the second summer we partnered with the wonderful Maplewood Pool. We provided three story times at Maplewood with an amazing turnout of 163 people! Maplewood was a gracious partner, offering our patrons the opportunity to swim for free when they came for story time. Many thanks to Maplewood for their hospitality. Our patrons loved it!
