Dr. Lotar Stahlecker, 3577 Elm Dr., associate professor of special education at Kent State University, will teach in Finland under a Fulbright grant next year.

Dr. Stahlecker will lecture education students in the field of mental retardation at Jyvaskyla School of Education during the 1960-61 school year. The institution is located 190 miles north of Helsinki.

Accompanying Dr. Stahlecker will be his wife Lisa. They will leave Stow Aug. 3, and go by boat on a ten-day cruise to Finland.

A member of the Kent faculty for ten years, Dr. Stahlecker wrote on "Human Relations Among Handicapped Children" for his doctoral thesis.

Before going to Kent Dr. he was a member of the Iowa State Department of Special Education. Previously he was on the staff of the Iowa State University for five years.

When not teaching he is also known throughout Stow and is a teacher at Riverview Elementary School. In April 1962 the Clerk of the Village resigned. Betty Thompson took his place and from this position went into the job of Director of Finance and Clerk of the Council.

How does this busy gal feel about handling the purse-strings for all of the Village of Stow? Betty agrees it is truly a full-time job, but an interesting and challenging one. She also acts as Clerk of Council, taking care of all correspondence and notes and minutes of all council meetings. What are the duties of a financial director of a village the size of Stow? Since taking over this job in January 1960, Betty has taken care of everything that has anything to do with money, including financial accounting, budgeting, every phase of the details of bond issues, levies, assessments, money to be spent on road paving, Village improvements and also directing the payroll of all Village employees.

Betty has stepped into this tremendous job only after three years of study and experience preparing herself for this type of profession. Born in Akron, Betty attended Buchtel High School, but graduated from Kent State University High School, which was a training school at that time, attended Kent State University and Actual Business College, and also took a private course in accounting. Her first office job was at Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. While living in Fresno, California, she was employed in the Auditor's Office and the Recording Office at that city's Court House. She spent some years working as a buyer and expediter for Twin Coach Co., at Kent, Ohio.

Betty was a legal secretary for attorney Ernest Genovese, specializing in Municipal Law in Akron. She worked as Justice

Ideals Solution To Frantic 60's? by Bob Golden

People with ideals have never been very well accepted by their fellow citizens, or the entire world for that matter. They are scorned, laughed at, ridiculed and repeatedly told they won't make it in the real world. Because they were crazy for being that way in the first place. The practical souls got the cutters and doing the things half-way because it's quicker - besides it's practical.

The world rambles on in magnificent confusion, full of problems that no one seems able to answer. It trebles on the very edge of total annihilation, frantically seeking salvation, and everyone vaguely wonders how things ever got into such a state.

Well, the world is seeking a salvation that may never come. It settled for being practical as long as it is losing sight of any goals or ideals it may have had. Without this ideal, without some good to reach and long for, without a standard by which to judge things, the world may never solve its problems. But we can't really blame the world or the people, can we? They are trying to do practical things to secure whether or not they are doing right.

Council OK's 2-Mill Levy

July 21, 1960

Council approved a two-mill road repair levy that will go to the polls in November, at their July 14 session. Council points out however that this is actually a tax reduction since 2.21 mills are expiring this year. They plan a campaign explaining to Stow residents why this levy is needed and showing why it won't be an additional tax burden.

George Wilner, a Board of Education member, came to the Council meeting asking for approval on opening the controversial Rose Ave, thereby providing access to Stow High's athletic field parking lot.

Council President Grover Shuman asked Wilner what the "long term deal" was. "I would like to agree with the Board of Education," Shuman said. "But it seems the Board is asking us to build a deluxe driveway to the parking lot." Mayor Shugard added, "We are Plating Gets Hearing Village Council declared an emergency which enables the final public hearing of a platting ordinance Aug. 4, 7:30 p.m. at Village Hall. The adopted ordinance will provide comprehensive rules, regulations and specifications governing plans and plats for the subdivision of land in the Stow area.

The ordinance makes an exception of land divided into sections of more than five acres not involving any new streets of easements of access. It also does not apply to the exchange of land of adjoining properties if such an exchange doesn't create additional sites.

Land Slope Nixes Building

The building site at Fishcreek Rd., or the tentative building plans or both will have to be altered, somewhat before construction can begin on the new school there, the Stow Board of Education concluded at their July 13th meeting.

Akron architect W. B. Huff brought plans for a U shaped structure similar to the present Woodland and Riverview elementary schools to the meeting. But he was skeptical to whether this would be practical for the proposed site because of problems involved in grading the land and using fill so as to build the best and least expensive foundation and walls. If the position of the building on the site which would partially solve the problem, is changed there are problems of parking, school bus unloading, playground areas, undesirable east-west sun, and the necessity of windows and the buildings entrance facing back yards of adjoining homes. Huff agreed to return July 20 with alternate plans and meet with the board in an effort to iron out these problems.

Estimates for building the football field parking lot were also under consideration. The Pryor Co. turned in the low bid of $1,920 or $1,925 using a higher grade cinders on the parking lot. The job consists of grading the land, compacting the dirt as it is graded, and spreading an inch thick layer of cinders. An added inch of cinders was also considered.

The Board also approved the $1,061,554 budget for 1961. It allocates $380,946 for salaries which is a 15% increase over last year and 84% of the entire budget. The remaining $630,606 is budgeted for operating expenses.

In other business the Board approved offering contracts to Mr. Bernard Dumm to be Junior High principal at $6,500 per year, Miss Mary Dolores Wilson to teach sixth grade English, Mrs. Dorothy Wilson to teach music, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Droll to teach sixth grade.

reluctant to spend public funds in a situation where the School Board doesn't want to spend any either.

Wilner retorted that a Rose Ave, extension would be as much in the public interest as any other street. "We are just as interested in the public as anyone else," he stated.

Residents in the area feared that the road might be opened then left as a dirt lane, but had no objections if the road was to be paved.

Councilman Thomas Clarke disliked opening a short gravel or cinder strip "just for four football games" in the fall, and added he would like to see a paved road extending Rose Ave. clear through to Northview Dr.

It was agreed that the Roads and Planning Committees would take the Rose Ave. matter into consideration, and make a report soon.

A Hammond organ is a pretty big piece of equipment and expensive too. A private owner might have a difficult time trying to sell one. Mrs. William Blochki found herself in such a circumstance, but she didn’t have any trouble at all. She used the Stow Press classified ad section on a Thursday and sold the organ the following Tuesday. The moral of this story... our classifieds get results.

Howdy kids, having a swell summer? Harriet Henry and Mike Bender will be married Aug. 6 in California. Laura Roberts is flying there to be in the wedding. Also, Marj Barkman is going to join her husband at Camp LaJime.

He’ll be a senior next year... Carol Ferrante and Gayle Gordon are going to first and second summer sessions at Kent. They are getting a head start on all you other guys.

John Moore is going to second summer term. He is going before he forgets too much as he doesn’t want to be a “dumb freshman” in the Fall.

Jim Cowles is working at Stow Queen now... Dan Packard is working for his brother at a Taste Freeze in Akron... Karen Coon left for 4-H camp July 5... Cheryl Osman has been in California for a month now.

I have just returned from Bob Ward's JAMES HARDWARE Store in the Stow-Kent Plaza where I bought my prize lures — U-20's, spinners, crawler harnesses and pork baits. Our Homeowner's policy is in force, plus our automobile policy and we have our trip routed by the AAA so I feel we are ready to relax.
