Faculty Has 22 New Faces

Classes To Begin Sept. 7

It's back to school Sept. 7. Returning students will find many new instructors, a new school building and old building cleaned and painted and renovated.

Lakeview School which will house the seventh form this fall, will be used for the first time. Also new faces will be among the faculty for 1960-61 year. Nine are adding to teachers to handle the expected 250 to 300 increase in enrollment, and 13 are to replace teachers who left Stow.

Bernard Dunman will be a new member of the administration staff. He is the new principal for 7th and 8th grades, and replaces Eugene Dominic whose new assignment is Curriculum Director.

All new pupils must register in the building they will attend during the week preceding Sept. 7. Offices will be open to receive registrations.

Classes for this year were held last spring need not register again.

High School students may register and receive their changed schedules at the high school office the remainder of this week and next week between 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Bus service to Stow schools will start using the same routes as at the close of last year, and the Lakeview Students will ride high school buses.

1917 Newspaper

Found Fascinating

By Kathy Martin

There's something so fascinating about an old newspaper. Last week my boy and I found a real old Akron Evening Times (Akron Beacon Journal) dated Sept. 11, 1917. brown, battered and torn it still makes interesting reading. They found it in the woods where the old Franklin estate stood for many years. This week the old place was torn down, making way for the extension of Oak Rd., as part of the plan to develop 36 wooded lots for future homes constructed by the Oak Enterprises of Akron.

Back to the old newspaper, the styles are quaint, men's belted suit coats, long skirts, real World War I helmets. The ads are fabulous, solid oak dresser for $10.78, complete dining room suite including buffet, china cabinet, large table and six genuine spade back chairs for $72.50. (a real steal)

A leading jewelry store announces all gold and silver jewelry with Liberty bonds as cash in payment for diamonds, watches andVictorinas.

Children whose sixth birthday comes before Jan. 1, 1961, may register in the first grade. A birth certificate must be presented along with evidence satisfying State requirements for vaccination and inoculation for smallpox, diptheria, polio, whooping cough and tetanus.

Seventh graders will attend the new Lakeview building, and eighth graders will attend the high school building.

Master Plan Calls For 1,200 Capacity

Lakeview School will house approximately 360 seventh graders in the fall, but a master plan calls for additions to that building which may someday bring its capacity up to 1,200.

Superintendent P. J. VanBrunt says the existing building has adequate boiler rooms, cafeterias and office space to serve the proposed addition.

When the plans for the Lakeview building were originally drawn, they were laid out within the building site so there would be a usable unit that could be added to. VanBrunt explains.

VanBrunt points out that the system is still overloaded despite new classroom space created by Lakeview.

The high school building was constructed for 1560 students, but last year held 1250. With normal growth and the removal of seventh graders to Lakeview, the high school is expected to contain 1,100 students in grades eight through twelve this year.

The master plan when completed will make Lakeview, either a junior or senior high school. VanBrunt says it is a matter of cost. Senior high facilities require more special purpose rooms such as shop areas.

Dominic Gets New Job

Growth Spurs New Dept.;

Curriculum Head Named

With bigness comes complexity and with complexity new jobs are created. This year the Stow school system will have a Curriculum Director who will make sure the teaching methods get results.

Eugene Dominic, Junior High Principal for the past three years, will fill this new position.

Dominic explains his new job and the removal of seventh graders to Lakeview, the high school is expected to contain 1,100 students in grades eight through twelve this year.

The master plan when completed will make Lakeview, either a junior or senior high school. VanBrunt says it is a matter of cost. Senior high facilities require more special purpose rooms such as shop areas.

TEACHER KNOWS BEST

For six short years I guided him As brothers usually do.
He learned a language, feeds himself And mastered bows on tongues, too.
Now he leaves to go to school, To learn the things he did not know.
He tells me facts I did not know. "It is true, the teacher said it's so."

New Classes And Machines

For 7th Grade Students

The Stow School system goes modern this year when for the first time its history seventh grade students will be grouped according to their ability and aptitude.

Being a lively Dunnian, new junior high principal, will supervise this program outlined by Eugene Dostie, former junior high principal.

Dunnian explains the students will be divided into three groups: exceptional, average and remedial. They will be placed in one of these categories according to their past standardized tests, teacher recommendations, grade achievement and parental conceptions.

Students in the above exceptional group will receive an enriched curriculum. Their language arts classes will concentrate on library reference work and advanced literature. They will also do more composition. They will complete seventh and eighth grade math in one year, and their English studies will revolve around extra biographical and encyclopedic work and reading of historical novels.

It is conceivable however that a student in an advanced section in one class may be in an average or remedial section in another. The program is flexible in regards to students moving from class to class.

Dunnian says the seventh grade was chosen for this program because it is thought to be the “breaking off point” for higher education.

Another innovation will be machines, purchased basically for the junior high, that increase reading speed and comprehension. These machines will help students who are slow readers and also help students in the accelerated classes.

The machine will flash words on a screen—a few at a time—then at the end of a paragraph a teacher will ask the students questions to test their comprehension.

Eventually their comprehension should equal their grade standing. The Board of Education has two of these machines on order.

Way Back When

by Frank Green

Croquet is one of the oldest and best known outdoor games of skill. It was the first game in which men and women played. It was first played in France, then in England and was brought to America by the early colonists.

Played on an average lawn just for the fun of it, I think it has no equal. As a tournament game on a clay court it compares well in skill with any other outdoor game. In a friendly social game careful thought will help you win.

The game nowadays is played on any size lawn but my old Doyle’s book of games says the court should be 50 ft. by 100 ft. The first wicket is set ten feet from the starting stake and the second ten feet farther on. The center wicket must be in the exact center. The wickets at the lower end of the court are set the same distance from the stake as at the head, but the side wickets are set in line with the second wicket—not halfway between it and the center one as we set them now.

Sometimes we used to set two wickets crosswise in the center so you had to shoot diagonally through them. This took more skill and slowed up the game.

I have played croquet since I was a small boy. My father liked the game. We played on our front yard at our old home on E. Graham Rd., near Ille Rd. The lawn was quite level—it still is, oddly after 80 years—and for some time we played a lot of croquet on it.

My folks were social, and we often had company. Even I am no hermit. The best crochet I ever played was played in our home.

One fall the Stow Christian brethren entertained at the “Yearly Meeting,” and the women had a house full.

At supper one of the guests—a minister—said, “Frank I see you play crochet.” (I’ve had seen me playing with another boy.) “I will play a game with you boys.” He suggested that he would play two balls against both of us. I started and got to the second side arch—a good start. He caught my ball and used it to play on all the way around. I did not get another shot. Then Charlie started and he treated him the same way.

His play was marvelous. He made all kinds of trick shots. I have forgotten his name; he was a very well known Disciple minister but had other talents. He was made governor of Indiana some time later. It takes a smart man to play croquet as he did.

I still love to play and can think of no pleasant way to spend an hour or so with congenial fellows.

MUNROE FALLS TOWNHALL
At a recent Monroe Falls Village Council meeting, Council decided to accept bids for their first police cruiser. Presently private cars owned by deputy or part-time marshals are being used.

George C. Scott, Safety Chairman, also outlined a plan for disbursing the present deputy marshal set-up and forming a line of special policemen. His plan would eliminate arrest fees and set a $2.00 hourly rate. Time spent riding in the cruiser would remain at $1.50 per hour.

At present all deputy marshals receive mileage rates for use of their private vehicles plus arrest fees for part-time work. Scott’s plan would not affect Lionel Van Meter, head of the police department, who is the only full time salaried man in the department.

Counil is also requesting the State extend the 25 m.p.h. speed limit on Rt. 91, through the Village from the Cuyahoga bridge to a point beyond N. River Rd. intersection.

Parsons Coast 10-5
To G Championship

Parson's Service gained an easy 10-5 win over the Stow Firemen to capture number one position in Class G playoffs last Sunday.

The Firemen staged a last inning rally when they got to relief hurler Bill Strablic for four runs, but it wasn't enough.

Parson's pitcher Dave Andreas pitched a no-hit ball for five innings and was relieved by Strabic in the sixth. Richard Pack came on midway in the seventh to choke off the Firemen rally.

Jumping off to an early lead, Parson's Service scored five runs in the second inning and things seemed to go downhill. They added one each in the fourth and fifth.

This was the finish of a fine season for Parson's Service. They averaged over 18 runs per game and actually went undefeated even though record reads two losses. These two games were forfeited after they were played because of an ineligible player on the Parson roster.

Rockets Stun Lakers
27-1: Are F Champs

The Rockets whipped a helpless Lake lake 27-1 to win the Class F tourney playoff trophy last Sunday.

The Lakers playing minus services of standout third baseman Inman and their best pitcher Terry Wilmott, made ten errors, and their pitcher Boppes gave up 22 hits.

Baumgardner, Concon, Givens, Long and Dockery all hit home runs for the Rockets, but some of these were only long fly balls that might have been caught had the Lake outfielders been more alert.

Rocket third baseman Givens belted four hits for a perfect day at the plate and Cox hit a triple. Givens is one of the Leagues top pitchers and played in the All-Star game at that position. Manager Paul Baumgardner used him at third base to strengthen the infield.

Randy Dockery, who won the elimination game with the Athletics and which put the Rockets into the finals, got credit for Sunday's victory.

Rockets, Parsons On Top

The Rockets, managed by Paul Baumgardner ended the regular season on top of the heap in Class F competition. The Athletics finished second, the Lakers third, the Indians fourth, the Hornets fifth and the Brigade wound up in last place.

Parson Service dominated Class G play throughout the regular season. They finished first with a 13-2 record.

Those two losses however were forfeits. There was some mix-up at the seasons beginning and Parson played their first games with an ineligible boy on their roster. He was too old.

Marhoffer Chevrolet placed second, Hudson Plumbers third, Maplewood Comets fourth, Stow Police fifth and Stow Firemen last.
