Bob Golden, Press Summer Journalist, Killed Saturday in Auto Accident

Robert H. Golden, 25 year old Kent State University journalism student who interned with The Stow Press during the past summer, was killed in an automobile accident Saturday, Sept. 10, when his sports car toppled over on a curve in Brady Lake. Many Stow residents had become familiar with Golden and his brother, Dave, who made his way around Stow, gathering information for new stories, taking pictures, interviewing individuals, picking up advertising copy. He had completed his summer work a week prior to his death, and had left the Stow Press office looking forward to vacation before starting on his last year of university work.

Golden was the foster son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shilliday, Alliance. He graduated from Randolph High School, and

Monroe Falls Pipeline

In answer to many inquiries from residents interested in subscribing to the Stow Press and new residents of Monroe Falls I wish to invite anyone interested in the meetings held at the Village Hall, the first and third Tuesday of each month.

The Planning Commission meet, the first Friday and the Water Board the second Friday of each month at the Village Hall. Any questions will be given full consideration by members of Village Council, Paul Monteleone, Gennett, Otto Drayer, Ford Grubb, Robert Shinkus, and Earl Wilson, and mayor Donald E. Virgo Virginia Doyle Village Clerk is in her office at the Village Hall weekdays from 8:30 till 4:30. Police, under the supervision of Lossie Vanmeter, may be reached by telephone, dial 4955.

Any questions in regards to petitions for roads, sewers, sidewalks, water, garages, etc. will be answered by Village officials at any time. So let's

Way Back When

Maxwell Graham was a talented horticulturist. He bought land across the highway from his mother's big farm. His land joined his brother's on the east and extended south so that he had a large frontage on Silver Lake. Many acres of this land was planted to fruit: apples, pears, peaches, cherries and grapes. Mr. Graham prided himself on growing any fruit that would flourish in this climate. I still remember the awful pucker I got trying to eat a green persimmon.

Apples raised apples commercially for Cleveland and Chicago markets. They were barreled on the farm. These were not converted, but the big market apple was the Baldwin. Most of the fruit in those happier days was preserved by the barrel and, of course, preserved in every degree of fermentation. Groups of all kinds of wines were made in quantity. This nice scotchman enjoyed life fully. His daughter, Mary, once told me: "My dear father once said that he never knew the time when he wanted to go to bed or to get up in the morning".

Mary came to school carrying two pails. One with her lunch in it and a bigger one full of apples. Her brother and his wife were members of the Congregational Church in the Falls and mixed socially with friends there. John and his cousin, Will, went to dances in all the towns around here. Years afterward some nice looking matron would come to me in the cemetery and proudly say: "I

Stow Council Acts, Looks, Listens

Council, in their Sept, 8 meeting, passed an ordinance establishing standard specifications of 4 foot width and 4 inch depth for concrete sidewalks constructed on public highways within the municipality, with an additional 2 inches required at driveway entrances. These specifications conform to state highway specs for "Class C" concrete. No gravel aggregate is to be used in the concrete.

The council passed a resolution providing for walks to be constructed on Graham Rd. from Darrow Rd. to the end of school property at Lakeview and Highland Schools, and from Vira Rd. to the end of Woodland School property. Property owners on both sides will be assessed for the cost of the walks.

Leo J. Kline was authorized by resolution to erect a business sign at 713 Graham Rd. for his animal hospital, permission granted for one year.

Council voted to purchase, by monthly rental, with rent applied toward purchase, a street sweeper for $1800. They hope to avoid clogging sewers this fall by sweeping them before it is washed into storm.

LEGAL ACTION AGAINST STOW

Law Director Herman Werner explained to Council underlying reasons of a legal action taken against the Village of Stow by Mrs. Eleanor S. McCullough, Mrs. McCullough desires judgment of zoning classification for property at 3893 Darrow Rd., where she owns a two-room office building. As the building was already being used for business when new zoning was made effective, she feels entitled to B-1 use classification, rather than R-2 which is residential.

Council authorized Mr. Werner to prepare the suit, demur and answers to the suit.

STOW'S FIRST BONDS

The first bonds for Stow since incorporation - Mac Dr. paving bonds - arrived in time for Council to pass them around for a look before the mayor and finance director signed them.

PROGRESS ON PHONE PROBLEMS

The ball is rolling for Stow residents to be within local phone distance of one another. About 250 village residents are in the Kent exchange. Council heard Mr. Williams of Ohio Bell explain the procedure now going into effect which may change Kent to Akron rates and exchanges. 7500 people must first be interviewed (Businesses in person, private individuals by mail), with an expected nine week period to gather the information required. Results must be submitted to Public Utilities Commission, and if the change is to be made, will take until 1962 to finish.

Art Show In Falls

Art enthusiasts who missed the Cleveland Museum's May Show this year are getting a second chance.

At the Cuyahoga Valley Art Center, 1886 Front Street, Cuyahoga Falls, is the 33rd Traveling Exhibition of Water Colors by Cleveland Artists. The gallery will be open to the public from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. weekdays, and 9 a.m. till noon on Saturdays.

The Exhibition closes Friday, September 30.

Tom Higgs Now A Brother

Thomas Higgs, nephew of Mrs. Henry J. Schmitt, 4185 Darrow Rd. and a Hoban High School graduate of the class of 1958 made his profession as a Salesman Coordinator, the 10th of September, the 8th of Don Bosco College in Newton, N. J. where he has been studying for the past two years. Brother Thomas arrived in Stow Friday, September 9 to spend a two day visit with the Schmitt family en route to Cedar Lake, Indiana. His first assignment is to help set up the athletic program for the high school boys attending St. Dominic Savio Junior Seminary.

THOMAS HIGGS
MULLINS CASE

A number of citizens were on hand for Council meeting to oppose the nomination of former Patrolman James Mullins' appointment as a regular policeman on the Stow force.

Councilman Thomas Clarke responded to Mullins' objection, stating that Mullins was not considered physically fit enough to act on the police force. Representative P. W. P. read a statement from Mullins' family, stating that the appointee was 'capable of the same activity as before the accident' which caused his disability.

Mayor Shuman said, 'I think we can grant the premise he shouldn't have been hired in the first place...he now has had two serious accidents...'.

The councilman referred to an accident Mullins suffered when on police department in Arlington, Va.

Hort J. Higgins, 1284 Meadowbrook, spoke to suggest that all police should have a physical examination, as well.

Know What You're Buying Dept: It's been our attention that high school students from other communities (not even adjoining Stow) have been calling on merchants for help in writing their senior yearbooks. We don't wish to keep these enterprising young people from selling enough advertising to support their publications - who knows better than we how important it is? In some cases, the fact that they were not representing Stow High was well known and resulted in merchants thinking they were supporting a local project. So - on guard when solicited for advertising! Make sure you know exactly what and whose publication you are paying for.

Ten Girl Scouts of Troop 682, along with Troop leaders Mrs. Robert Shumkus, and Mrs. Dale Kay spent the week-end of September 3 at Camp Ledgewood. Those attending were Betty Bruner, Joan Dixon, Dawn Green, Jean Kay, Linda Latich, Janice Peters, Kathleen Pickert, Shown Shumkus, Kathy Wright and Cathy Wright. The Scouts received their Second Class and Dabbler Badges and while at camp worked on their outdoor cooking. Mrs. Shumkus is Camp Advisor and Mrs. Kay is First Aid Instructor. Troop Leader is Mrs. C. C. McCollum.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Fire Department met at the Fire Station, September 7. The Surprise Package went to Mrs. Carl Donaldson and Door Prizes were won by Mrs. Richard Miller, Mrs. Mill Helmling and Mrs. Mel Schneider. Hostesses were Mrs. Monroe Carpenter and Mrs. Donald Lyly. The organization held a covered dish picnic supper, October 9, at 5:30, at Guise Park. Families of members are invited to attend.

Maxwell died in 1937, as old man, and Mary, his wife, in 1915. They are buried in Stow Cemetery that he did much to adorn. Now I will tell back to the other branch of the family.

William Graham also became a very large land owner and fruit grower. As I have said he married Belinda Butler. The Butlers owned all of Lot 45 at one time.

Health for All

Baby Knows How High is Up

Baby, as young as 7 months can tell when the floor is a dangerous long way off, according to two Cornell University researchers. They found that not even mother could coax baby from a table onto an adjacent level, except when a thick glass covering a drop to the ground. Conclusion: When baby tumbles off the furniture it's a slip of the muscles, not the mind. He knows the danger.

No Place For The Country Civilian

The big city is the wicked place the farmer always thought it was. A study of the drinking habits of some 1,200 Iowans showed that the boys drink a lot more when they move from the farm to the city. Only about half of Iowa's rural dwellers drink, two-thirds of the city slickers.

Muscle Rustle

A doctor and an electronics engineer, experimenting with a new amplifier and frequency scanner, picked up high frequency signals from muscles in the form of noises. Muscles sometimes crunched, but mostly they just rustled. Possible application of the diseased muscle gives off different signals from healthy muscle, so maybe the gadget can be used in diagnosis.

Stop & Can't Buy Happiness

You'll never get happy taking "happy pills." In fact, quite the reverse, according to Dr. Pranke. Berger, discoverer of Milltown, first of the tranquilizers. Someone looking for a lift will find it in Milltown, or any similar drug, says Dr. Berger, and may even feel worse. Tranquilizers and drugs are useful, but let the doctor decide when and how.

Not How Much But How Often

Putting away three square meals a day may be rougher on the system than day-long nibbling of the same amount of food. So says researcher Dr. Clarence Colvin of Chicago's Medical Research Institute. Animal experiments suggest that taking on a heavy load of food three times a day may trigger diabetes, heart and blood vessel ailments.

Last weekend most of the Stow High grads left for college. That is a reminder to all you seniors, have you sent in your applications for the college of your choice yet? Better get a move on if you haven't. College classes get their quotes quicker than ever now.

Talking about class quotes. Buddy, have you felt kinda crowded at the high school when you're going from class to class? Where do all the people come from?

It could be because not everyone is headed straight to their next class. People are still wandering around saying, "Where's 302?" and "Where'd you say 218 was?" Contrary to the rumors going around that we would have six long classes to the day in which we would have a study hall part of each, we have eight periods like always. One new thing since the seventh grade left in the classrooms we've acquired on the second floor of the "old building".

We had a swell Pep Rally last Friday for our games at the Preview. It was swell in that it gave us a good feeling to get back into the yelling spirit of the coming football game quotes. outstanding feature was our new live mascot. A nice big (in fact huge) bulldog! I'm not certain but I think his name is Victor. Larry Kerr had a lot to do with getting him.

THE BULLDOGS

The Stow High football squad underwent the first official activity of their schedule last Friday night at Northfield under the direction of their new coach, Dick Forster, and the newly named captains, Lynn Jackson and co-captains, Dan Packard and Ralph Richardson. It was the annual preview in which Stow played two one-quarter events against Boston and Twinsburg.

Stow looked rusty against Boston, whom they played first, getting off to a poor start when Boston recovered a fumble during the 2nd play Boston didn't waste any time in quickly scoring from Stow's 30-yard line, and then adding the two extra points.

Stow then took possession on their own 30-yard line where Stow's quarterback, Larry Kerr, trying the air, passed the pigskin directly into the arms of a Boston player. He ran the pass back to the 9-yard line where Stow looked good for the first time in making a goal-line stand. John Sandercox punted out of the end zone and the Boston offense failed again to gain enough ground. After a couple of plays on defense the next time the ball was on the 17-yard line Stow's Jim Finley fumbled and recovered. Boston recovered again at the Stow 14-yard line, making a 34-yard gain. Jim Finley recovered and Kerr fumbled and recovered and creased the 1-yard line for a touchdown and a 7-0 lead.

Stow then took possession at their own 49-yard line and advanced to the Boston 40-yard line where Sandercox was forced out of bounds and Kerr was forced down to the Boston 50-yard line. Stow made a time-out and then advanced to the Boston 30-yard line. Kerr was forced out of bounds and Sandercox forced down for a 1-yard gain. Kerr was forced out of bounds again. Sandercox was forced out of bounds and Kerr was forced out of bounds.

Kerr then fumbled and Sandercox recovered at the Boston 10-yard line. Kerr was forced out of bounds by Sandercox. Sandercox was forced out of bounds by Kerr. Kerr then fumbled and Sandercox recovered at the Boston 5-yard line, making a 51-yard gain. Kerr was forced out of bounds at the Boston 5-yard line. Sandercox was forced out of bounds at the Boston 2-yard line. Kerr was forced down at the Boston 2-yard line and Sandercox was forced down at the Boston 1-yard line.

Stow finally scored at the Boston 1-yard line and a touchdown and a 7-0 lead.

Stow will play their first scheduled full game this Friday, 8 P.M. at Green High School. I hope to see Stow lick one of these local bad habits-starting to play football just before the final gun. Good luck, Bulldogs.
