Juniors Fight Fire By Prevention

National Fire Prevention Week (October 8-15) is here again, and with it the grim reminder that more than 11,000 lives and one billion dollars worth of property are wiped out each year by fire. No matter where it strikes, fire is a major threat to our daily lives and a reality our Society must face.

Membership of the Junior Fire Marshal’s Salute during Fire Prevention Week honors those who do their jobs, and the students who join them.

Two newcomers to the stage share honors of being outstanding performers in Stow Players’ “The House on the Cliff,” which opened a three-weekend run at Town Hall last Friday night.

Carol Schuellerman was charming and believable as the mysterious reading woman who, when she smiled, which she often did, it was to a houseful of suspects. It was sheer delight to see her alone, and the audience had tremendous confidence in her acting. The play started slowly, often hard on the mysteries, while the author sets the stage for future horrors. A change of pace between Evelyn Tucker, whose lovely looking invalid, and Thora Mills who capably played her step-mother, would have helped bring them out.

Joe Yurekoh and Fred Sanborn, both playing doctors, handled their roles effectively. Especially deserving of praise is the technical staff who designed and executed a player stage for many scenes.

Suspended as the act moved on, until the surprising (as it should be in a mystery) denouement. The last act had many on the edges of their chairs, and we can’t say enough how we’d hate to hear Carol say she anywhere except on stage.

“The House on the Cliff” thoughtfully directed by Frank Van Dyke, runs Fridays and Saturdays for the next two weekends.

Tough, But Necessary

In Jarrow, England, in 1858, a man refused all treatment. When health officers found that he had infected three children, the city magistrate ordered him into a sanatorium. In Oxford, February of this year, a deaf and helpless with tuberculosis, who repeatedly failed to keep his appointments at a chest clinic, despite a great deal of coaxing, was sent to a hospital under a court order, so much for England.

In the U.S., 30 states have laws which can put a patient with infectious TB into a hospital for treatment. If he refuses to go voluntarily after all possible persuasion has been used. If he goes AWOL before doctors are ready to discharge him, he can be brought back.

For two countries which put personal liberty on a pedestal, such action seems outrageous. How come no protest marches, no picket lines, no angry letters to the editor?

Well, the laws are aimed at the disease, not the patient. And the laws are clearly as necessary to the health of a community as those which require landlords to keep their buildings safe and sanitary.

TB is a highly infectious disease, more so than leprosy for example. On the other hand, a patient who has received proper and adequate treatment is not infectious at all.

where she had spent 10 days for medication and observation.

OLD MAIDS
An "Unwed Blessing," a dear friend of mine who has never married calls herself. Fern has likely passed her harvest time and is quite content to live alone and not have a man to hose and feed.

Starting way back in antiquity I will briefly mention one of the old maids who has attracted my attention. Mira was the sister of Moses and Aaron. She is supposed to be the one who put the baby Moses into the bulrushes where he was found by Pharaoh's daughter. She led the big chorus of women in their song of deliverance when they marched out of Egypt. I think she was much older than Moses. She outlived him too and he was 120 when he died. Read your Bible story of this lively old girl.

The story of Elizabeth, the so-called Virgin Queen of England, is interesting, often thrilling. She was 25 years old when she became Queen. She succeeded her half-sister Mary. They were daughters of King Henry VIII. This stubborn old fellow had quarreled with the Pope and broken away from the Catholic Church and made himself head of what he named the Church of England. His 1st wife was Catherine of Aragon. She was a devout Spanish Catholic and had 3 bad children, but all girls.

Henry wanted a male heir so he divorced Catherine and married Anne Bolanya an Austrian Protestant. (If any of you are interested in read your English history. I must keep to my text. "Old Maids"). Henry got no male heir, so when he died his oldest girl Mary became Queen.

Like her mother, Mary was an ardent Catholic. She restored the Catholic Church as the state religion. Because she persecuted the Protestants she was known as Bloody Mary. She hated her sister Elizabeth and tried to get rid of her. Fortunately she only lived for 5 years after she became Queen and then Elizabeth followed her to the bloody scaffold.

She quickly restored the Church of England as the State Church.

This was a time of tense religious strife in both England and Scotland. She was not so intolerant as Mary, but she had reason to fear and hate Catholicism. I have never forgiven her for having Mary Queen of Scots executed when the poor Queen married.
Marc Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Arnold, 4571 Kent Rd., a Stow High graduate of 1955, was one of 20 members of the Bethany College Choir to travel through Germany, sponsored by the U.S. Army, to represent their church school in the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ at Edinburg, Scotland.

In addition to a tour of all places of interest in Germany, Marc and three other choir members stayed an extra week, hiring a car for a special sight-seeing tour into Switzerland and France. The entire trip for the "Touring Twenty," as the choir was called, lasted six weeks.

Marc is now back at Bethany in West Virginia, where he is a sophomore, taking liberal arts and business administration courses.

Welcome New Neighbors

Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Kincard (Claudia) moved to Stow two weeks ago from Akron to make their home at 3850 Highland Avenue. The Kincards have been in Stow in the jewelry business since 1958 when they purchased the Stow Jewelry Store in the Holt Bldg., now have Kincard Jewelry in the Stow-Kent Shopping Center. Ray became interested in sales in Akron University classes after graduation from both high school and in jewelry through a friend in that business. He is an active member of Stow Businessmen's Club, Rotary and Boosters, and is interested in all sports. He spent three years in the Special Services of the U.S. Army, serving in Germany, Russia, Holland and Africa.

Claudia is a graduate of North High in Akron, also attended Akron University, studying education. She especially enjoys buying trips to New York, where they attend Broadway shows, and locally enjoys attending all sporting events, especially basketball and football. Kincards have one daughter, Kimberly, who is nearly three.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Busch (Elaine), 3496 Edgewood Dr., bail from New Jersey originally, but lived in Massachusetts for two years before moving to Stow. Mr. Busch and his wife have spent four years in the Caribbean area for the U.S. Navy, and is a chemical engineer with the Enjay Co., an affiliate of Standard Oil of New Jersey. He is a graduate of Lehigh University where he majored in mechanical engineering.

Elaine is a graduate of State Teachers College, New Jersey, an educational major, and has had one year of experience teaching first grade. The Busch family also included one year old Steven. They enjoy all sports including golf and bowling, and especially look forward to an evening of bridge.

Speaking of bridge, Mrs. Busch was the winner of the special award at Holy Family's Pigskin Party recently --- two tickets to the Notre Dame-Pittsburgh football game Nov. 5 at South Bend. That's a welcome every new neighbor doesn't get! We hope they enjoy the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bergstrom (Janet), 3232 Elizabeth Dr., moved from Stow to Lakewood, N. Y., on May 1. Mr. Bergstrom, a January, 1960, graduate of Ohio University, is an architectural engineer for Contractor Co. of Akron. Janet is a graduate of Fredonia State Teachers College, Fredonia, N.Y., where she majored in vocal music education and piano.

Janet now teaches voice and instruments in the Stow school system, and finds time to devote to eight piano pupils in her home.

Both Bergstroms find relaxation bowling with the Maplewood Park League. Bob is active in Maplewood Park Mens Club, and enjoys all water sports. They celebrated their first wedding anniversary in August.
Mr. and Mrs. John Gross, 3577 E. Kent Rd., residents of Stow for eight years, are at present traveling throughout Europe on an extended vacation. Their hostess, Prof. William Gross, will be the 28 days they will be permitted to visit their families who now live in communist-occupied Hungary. Special permission for this visit had to be obtained from Washington, D.C., and may not be extended past the allotted 28 days.

Mr. Gross was a mold maker at Akro Standard Mold Co. for 12 years before his recent retirement. The Grosses plan to return to Stow late in October. Their round trip ocean voyage will be aboard the liner United States.

Last Friday afternoon, Kenny Williams, 1/2 year old child of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, 3758 Kauffman Rd., was accidentally struck on the forehead by a swing and had to be taken to Children's Hospital for several stitches.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Addison, 3748 Jona Dr., were guests of daughter Mrs. Ross Holden for a family dinner held Sunday, Oct. 9, when Mrs. Addison celebrated her 81st birthday. Present were four grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Holden also honored daughter-in-law Barbara Nanaeke Holden, who will celebrate her birthday October 14.

Rev. William Wolfe officiated at the marriage of Carolyn Jane Clarke, daughter of Mrs. James M. Clarke and the late James M. Clarke of 2025 Liberty Rd., Stow, and Grant L. McMahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McMahan of Clymer, Pa., at Community Church of Stow on Sept. 24 at 3:30 p.m. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Daniel Clarke.

She wore a white peau-de-soie gown with a Chantilly lace bodice, a Sabrina neckline and 3/4 length sleeves, and carried a white orchid with lilies-of-the-valley on a white Bible. (The bride made her own gown.) Honor attendant was Miss Margaret Seamens of Williamsville, N. Y., a former Stow resident. She wore an ice blue brocaded taffeta dress and matching veil hat, carrying a Colonial bouquet of fall flowers.

Best man was Sam Good of Pittsburgh, Pa. Fred McMahan of Clymer, Pa., and William McMahan, Detroit, both brothers of the bridegroom, were ushers. A reception was held in the Church social hall immediately following the ceremony.

Mr. McMahan was graduated from Stow High School in 1958, and is now employed by Ohio Edison Co. Her husband, a graduate of Clymer High School, attended Indiana State Teachers College, and is now employed by A & P Co. They are presently living in Akron but expect to move to Stow shortly.

STORK CLUB
It's seven youngsters, seven years old and under, for Mr. and Mrs. John J. Semion, 2706 King Dr. They welcomed the arrival of Mary Catherine, the fifth daughter, August 27. She weighed 9 lbs., 1 oz.

Gregory Paul was the name chosen by Mr. and Mrs. George Derbloss, Jr., 3763 Kauffman Rd., for their new arrival who weighed 8 lbs., 6 oz. at birth on Sept. 4. Now the family includes two sons and two daughters.

Last week at school I was busy as a beaver collecting people’s opinions and pestering folks for information concerning Stow High’s football team. I received ideas from freshmen, sophomore starters, teachers, coaches, and football players themselves. I found many conflicts of ideas. Here are the comments, pro and con:

One person definitely believes our team has more spirit this year. A second person chipped in and said “Yeh! Our team has more spirit this Friday night!” Then what happens no one understands.

Are they afraid? They are “Young and green” some people comment. The retort is “How has Stow’s team managed to be ‘young and green’ for the last ten years?”

One person when asked his views on the football team said, “It’s one of the best teams we’ve had if we’d just get that support from everyone. Others want just the opposite. “We had the largest attendance for the first home game with Norton than ever in the history of Stow. Doesn’t that show everyone is behind out players.”

Some people are proud of our team’s “spirit and will to win.” Others are disheartened at the outward appearance of a “defathered attitude” (which was mentioned by many people I talked to). They play well until the score is against them.”

A very good reason for defeat so far this year is lack of a program that starts to turn our football players in the seventh grade. Some of our seniors have had only five weeks experience and they are playing teams with five years experience.

I started many discussions among people and heard vast and detailed reports of how hard our team members hit that tackle dummy, how hard they work, and how tough they are. We know every fellow on that team is respected and well liked. The love shown the new body should want to do is hurt their feelings.

The Stow Bulldogs were the victims of a Spartan Homecoming game last Friday night. The Bulldogs are now winless in four starts. Springfield started right off by scoring in the first quarter. They scored twice in the second half and leave the field at halftime with a 20-0 lead. After the Intermission, the two teams evenly fought one another until a Spartan pass clicked for their fourth and final T.D.

Although the score was not favorable, the Bulldogs played better football. They just had trouble in stopping the Longhorns. During the game the Spartans earned 14 first downs compared to Stow’s 13 first downs.

The least quarterback Kip Koski took to the air frequently during the night. He completed 10 out of the 22 passes. Dave Ryan and Bill Westgate, Stow’s offensive ends, did a fine job on the receiving end of the pigskin. Halfback Ralph Richardson ran hard for the Longhorns during the 48 minutes while Captain Lynn Jackson at guard did a very impressive job on both offense and defense.

Next Friday, the boys from down the road come to Stow. Ellet will try to wreck our homecoming just as we wrecked their last year. The game should be a close one all the way. Judy Thomas, the I-8 Homecoming Queen, will be crowned at halftime. Let’s have everyone back our team by coming to see Stow win their first game this year.

TRAVELING JAYCEES

Richard Phillips, l., president of Stow Jaycees, was among the speakers at the September all-state meeting of Ohio Jaycees, held at the Deaehler Hilton Hotel, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Phillips, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Schmidt, attended the September all-state meeting of Ohio Jaycees in Columbus recently. Before getting down to business, the 1300 Jaycees present attended the Ohio State-MU football game.

Dick and Dan attended local officer's forums, concerning improving chapters and communities, and a Trustee's meeting where they represented Stow. Their wives attended the wives' forums regarding leadership and business, after which all attended a dance held at the Hilton.

Sunday after church, a forum was held on general public relations, then smaller sections discussed other projects such as: Americanism, chapter development, Christmas and religious activities, community development, health, welfare and safety, national relations, personal conventions, personnel, public affairs, records and recognition, rural-urban affairs, sports and youth activities, safe driving road-e-o, and ways and means.

These meetings are held every other month in different cities throughout the state, for members to learn personal as well as chapter development.

Jaycees contributions to their communities are studied. "It is with the combined efforts of the Jaycees and other organizations in town that we will improve this community and make it a finer place to live and a wonderful place for our children to grow", says President Phillips.
