MINISTER’S COLUMN

All is not gold that glitters. So Achan in the Bible story made this discovery. He got the wedge of gold, but he lost, lost all. “Diamonds, that’s what I need,” spoke the old farmer. “Diamonds, yes diamonds. They glitter, twinkle like the stars. Now, said he, “If I had diamonds my three daughters could command the crown heads of Europe. Diamonds, yes diamonds, I must have.” So he sold his farm and traveled in quest of diamonds. Long and far and diligent was his search, but nary a diamond. Farm gone, home gone, not a dime left, health gone, hope gone, so he casts himself into the sea. He, too, made the discovery. All is not gold that glitters.

Beware, my friend, everywhere you meet confidence men, rascals, impostors, sharpers, human leeches that go up and down the earth and prey upon humanity. They offer much for nothing; they are palpitating in advising you how to get rich quick, they sell you a gold brick, at least you hope it is, but to your sorrow you make the discovery, all is not gold that glitters. So be careful, my friend, don’t plunge, don’t be reckless. Poise is the word, be calm in your soul. There are invisible forces that will guide you, know them, trust them, command them. One who loves you does not will that you should drift like a deserted hulk on the stream of life. Quit running at your own will, illuding lights across the moors are deceiving. Don’t think yourself intelligent enough to make the run of life’s day without compass, chart or guide. Mark it well, sir, all is not gold that glitters. Broken hearts sob their bitter cry, they sink to rise no more, they strew the way of life with human wreckage, alas, they thirsted for the glitter. Take God’s gold, my friend, make the church your choice. Come, claim heirship to qualities that abide. This Easter time seek the better values, you will find it pays. Refuse to wander on and on through the years without heeding the warning, ALL IS NOT GOLD THAT GLITTERS.

GEO. M. HULME, Minister

CARD OF THANKS

To the many friends who helped us and befriended us in so many ways during our recent bereavement, we wish to express our gratitude and thanks. It is our hope that our little girl may not have lived in vain. If one soul may be led to know God and acknowledge Him and His Son because of her life and death we

The fire started in the rear of the Merit Meat Market, Marhoffer block, and besides burning out the market, it damaged the rear floor of the Barber shop on one side and smoked up Isalys on the other side. The damage was variously estimated at from 2 to 10 thousand dollars.

Mr. Rearick of Isalys expects to be able to resume business soon, possibly on Saturday. The barber shop was open for business Tuesday. The meat market will open later.
