MINISTER'S COLUMN

BEWARE OF THE JAM

There are many kinds of jams. Jam is a very expressive word. There are fruit jams, human jams, log jams and many more varieties of jams.

Some jams are interesting, others are greatly to be feared. It is interesting to see the flow of children passing out from the school door, on they come like the water in the brook, it is the time of play, noon, or studies are laid aside and away they all scatter for home.

It is a sight again to witness the steady stream of workers pour forth from the factory gate, out they come, filling the street, clogging the busses, loading the cars, swarming like bees, all delighted in their release and all making a bee-line for home.

A circus is a fair illustration of a jam. The closing act, 11 p.m., thousands of eager watchers simultaneously race down over the board seats, all heading for the great out-doors.

Baseball or football in the great stadium portrays the same drama, the jam. Crowds, scads or myriads of human beings all trying to pass through the neck of a bottle at about the same time.

I know of no jam however, comparable to the jam at the church door, when classes are released and the hour of divine service is at hand. Nine-tenths of all the children must hurry out, that apparently is an unwritten law, away they fly like frightened birds.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

The subject of our lesson for next Sunday is “The Coming of the Holy Spirit in Power.” It is the first of a series of lessons which will deal with the ministries of the disciples and particularly that of Peter. It is amazing to see what a mighty man of God Peter became. We can hardly realize that he is the same Peter that stood outside the door the night before the crucifixion afraid to enter until John interceded for him, only to deny three times that he ever knew Jesus. It is a wonderful example of what God can do with a man if he will only have faith.

If you have any doubt in your mind as to what the Holy Spirit is this lesson is recommended for study. Synonymous terms are Holy Ghost and comforter. What do these terms mean to you? You will find the word POWER used repeatedly with reference to the Holy Spirit. What is this power and for what is it used?

Here we have an account of the world’s first evangelist. Luke records (Acts 2:41) that approximately 3000 believed and were baptized after Peter’s sermon. He also records the world’s first socialistic state as wealth was pooled and divided.

This lesson has a very special significance in character building and applies both to individuals as such and to the state relationship. It is suggested that you read the second chapter of Acts. Please feel welcome to attend our class at 9:30 A.M. Our group is non-denominational.
