LOYALTY

Loyalty, meaning faithful to one's oath or engagement or obligation or church or vow or promise. A loyal man is a dependable man, one who will support, one who can be counted on. What marvelous wonders are locked up in the five lettered word, LOYAL.

There is one thing imperative, a demand absolute that is exacted by the Soviet Union of Russia, the world's greatest Communist Party, this one thing is commendable, it is Loyalty. To flirt with the Soviet Union and be unloyal is to lose your head, off it goes, and that with little ceremony.

There is one thing demanded of the great National Nazi Party of Germany, which is commendable, and that is Loyalty. If found unloyal you forfeit your life and that without mercy.

There is one thing commendable about the great Fascist Party of Italy, they exact one thing, and that absolutely, that without any compromise whatsoever, that is Loyalty.

I know of a greater party than any mentioned, of a mightier government than all combined, of a Soverign Ruler supreme and transcendently glorious, this Kingdom and this sovereign are Almighty God and the Kingdom of Heaven.

To be a subject of this Kingdom there is one requirement, one, that is all, and that is absolutely Loyalty to the King called Christ. Loyalty, my dear sir, that is a lesson of which you lack nothing, save the practice of it.

By precept and example our elders and leaders today, our church officials and Sunday School teachers fall sadly short when measured by the yard-stick of absolute Loyalty. How many responsible for departments of our Lord's cause can give evidence of one hundred per cent Loyalty?

When Divine Service unfolds its peace, its song, its hope, its prayer, that on the day and hour set apart by our Federal Government, deliberate and without justifiable cause, dad or elder or teacher is headed for the golf links, the lakes or some place of amusement.

According to official tally a majority of our Sunday School boys slip away in the advanced teen ages away from the old restraints out they go, out into the great outdoors, so easy to get into and so difficult to get out of.

Leaders, teachers, be loyal to the cause, loyal to the church, and teach loyalty to every group that is a tributary to the church. Do you sing? Then be loyal to your trust. Are you an official? Be loyal. Are you a member? Be loyal.

It is not the fulfillment of duty

Sunday Evening Topic:— "In the year King Uzziah Died." Read Isaiah 6:1-8
My feet carry the whole body, my hands work for the whole body, my eyes see for the whole body, my ears hear for the whole body, my mind thinks for the whole body. If the body would function every agency must be loyal, absolutely loyal.

My friend, before you lapse the name of Jesus again, before another sun sets, vow solemnly that you will be loyal to the Cause that is worthy of your best.

CHURCH COMMENT

What have the Deacons done
this year?

Evening church services are to be continued.

The Trustees of the Community
Church have a first class furnace for sale cheap.

Ladies Attention: Your Bible
Class will meet for their regular monthly business meeting Tuesday evening, May 17th, at the home of Mrs. Edmiston, Spray
Drive, off River Road, in Munro-Falls.

Support the Evening Church Services. Let us have special music each Sunday evening. A. S.
Phelps and the church music committee consisting of Mr. Swanson, Mrs. Judy and Mrs. Hulme will arrange the details. Do the men sing this next Sunday eve-ing?

With the able assistance of Messrs. Monteith, Stein and Mrs.
Osman the trustees of the Com-mmunity Church hope to persuade folks this month to make an extra effort, sufficient, to pay off all the small (?) bills of the church on or before the first Sunday in June.
The attendance at Bible School last Sunday was two hundred sixty-four. This is just one more than the preceding Sunday. The ladies class with fifty-one present won the banner. Mrs. Bishop’s mother, Mrs. Whitmeyer, received the plant for being the oldest mother present.

The Mothers Day Sunday evening at Community Church on the first day of this present week was exceptional for two reasons: first the music and second the sermon.

Twenty mothers under the direction of Mrs. Mosley made up a splendid chorus which produced real harmony, the Buck sisters sang a duet very sweetly, while Mr. Osman thrilled us with a solo entitled “You Are A Wonderful Mother.”

The sermon by Rev. Hulme was decidedly not of the usual type for Mothers Day. It came straight from the shoulder. The two types of mothers were contrasted. We only wish more mothers and fathers (and children too) could have been there to listen.

At the regular Church Nite Business Meeting held last Friday evening the plan of banking all church organization funds in one account was adopted. This plan, outlined by Mr. Buck, is as follows:

All organizations of the church, including the Sunday School, Ladies Guild, Christian Endeavor and the Sunday School classes, if they care to, may participate.

Each organization will have their treasurer as at present, but instead of banking their money separately, they will turn it over to the general treasurer, who will at that time make the proper entry in said treasurer's pass book.

Each organization will issue orders to the general treasurer to pay only their own bills.

No organization will be allowed to over check their account at any time.

Advantages of consolidation:
Not only can we save about 3 checking account charges but expenses will be paid and receipted by check and a more accurate and presentable tabulation of bills will be maintained.

We further propose that the minister's and janitor's salary be paid semi-monthly and further reduce the checking account charge.

In order to avoid further delay we are offering nominations for the position of general treasurer:
Mrs. Ermal S. Dunn,
Mr. C. H. Monteith,
Mr. A. L. Stein.

Other nominations may be made if desired.

GARDENS AND OTHER THINGS

This is Monday night. It is the time when most of the editorial work is done on the greatest weekly in Stow. And it is cold. It is cloudy. It is gloomy. In our office at the present writing the thermometer stands at 56°F and its colder outside. Seems almost as if spring had deserted.

But last Saturday it was different. Sunshine warmed up the out-of-doors making people's thoughts turn to gardening. One person even said he didn't believe we'd have any more cold weather. A good time to set out tomato plants etc. However, speaking of tomato plants it is our opinion that Decoration Day or the first week in June is about the right time to indulge in that activity. Liable, in this climate, to have frost most any time in May.

So last Saturday thinking of gardening we drove over bright and early to see the plowman about doing our job as promised, but, Mrs. Lawson, no doubt being a good cash customer, claimed his services for that day, so, nothing for us to do but wait until Monday. (Yes it is plowed now). Meanwhile why not see what other people were doing.

After some minor details such as figuring out the amount of advertising in last week's paper, etc. we hopped, skipped and jumped into the family's one and only "ought-to-mobile" whose present trade-in value is around twenty or twenty-five dollars and whose only redeeming virtue (?) is that it is one thing we own which is all paid for. Lately this old car, outside of making only ten or so miles to the gallon of gas and using a gallon or two of oil each week has done very well in traveling the two-thirds of a mile down to the Hudson Road and back. But no man knoweth the day or hour when it will fizzle out. And when it fizzles—well, there just won't be any car for us to hop, skip and jump to. That's all.

Chugging into Stow proper, Miss BAUMGARDTS MEAT MARKET

Best Quality Meats

AUGUST F. BAUMGARDT WA-8816 ACME STORE No. 114 STOW
Harriet North was persuaded to get in our jalopy and on the way to her country home on North River Road, Munroe Falls, Ohio, news items appearing elsewhere in this issue, about River Road folks, were obtained.

Off River Road to the South runs Spray Drive. On this street live Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Edmiston, both members of our church. In this, their new location, the Edmistons have five acres of ground, a wonderful view of the river valley below and of the hills on the opposite side, also an opportunity to work at their hobby of raising flowers. This past winter Mr. Edmiston has built two greenhouses and in these "sun parlors" there are now thousands of baby plants. It looks as if someone would have a lot of flowers this summer. Mrs. Edmiston is president of the Stow Garden Club.

Driving thru Munroe Falls and down the Falls Water Works Road we called on "Mel" Thomas Melvin is one of those young men who, like William Henry of Stow, have a self-starter. In fact he has started more than once. To go back a little ways: he started for the second or third time in the coal business last fall, but, he let his sympathy for other folks who found themselves in tight places get the better of him, so now, he is waiting on some of "Stow's better families" to pay their last winter's coal bill. Meanwhile he is farming. Has ten cows, sells the milk to Al Stein. With his tractor he was plowing a five or ten acre tract when we saw him while his father, Zach, planted oats. Says he will have twenty-five acres of oats, fifteen or twenty acres of corn and five or six acres of garden this year.

Back to Stow, filled up with a superior grade of gas sold by one of our advertisers, then rattled and banged across Stow township to the Lindsay farm on Fish Creek Road. Wandering, out to the pansy patch alone we noted that the work of digging pansies, resetting other plants, etc., apparently had been in progress that morning. Besides pansies John Lindsay seems to be working into the nursery business. He has roses coming on, also other shrubbery plants that should be ready for sale in a year or two. An interesting thing about this garden spot is that it is located on the edge of Call's pond where an irrigation system has been rigged up to water the thirsty plants.

After interesting discussions with the Lindsays on a multitude of subjects a swing out Call Road and around the east section of the township was made. As usual the Hansen farms look well kept, their grain is knee high, the muck farms are black, spinach, radish, celery and lettuce are all well advanced.

Now dear reader much more could be written about last Saturday's visits, etc., but like all amateur writers we will say its getting along towards bed time so will close. And it is still Monday night, the temperature inside is still 56°F. Friend wife just returned from the Mother-Daughter banquet at the church. Says there must have been a hundred there. Just now she is writing down the names of those present, so far she has seventy-two.

With love, etc. Yours truly.

P. S. We wash Cars
As the story was told to us the following poem by the colored Minister, Rev. Tolbert, was written while he was waiting in an anteroom for an interview.

I hope this brings, dear friend, just what it did to me,
For the thought is very simple, and the theme is plain to see,
We should not let our eyes be fixed on wealth and pomp and pride,
And think that God is with us, when we set the poor aside;
I think we all should see ourselves in God’s true looking glass,
And remember, Isaiah said, “Our flesh was naught but grass.”
And, too, our blessed Lord declared, “That inasmuch as ye,
Have done it to the least of these, ye have done it unto me.”

I guess you’ve heard the story which may not all be true,
Of the man who visited the church one day, as any man might do,
He took a seat up near the front, to hear the songs and prayer,
For a sign that hung up by the door had bade him welcome there,
And as he sat in silence, and cast his eyes around,
He could see the church attended by the wealthiest folk in town,
And as the preacher spake that day, this man began to think,
Upon the words that “Whosoever will, may come and drink.”

And when the Minister said, “Who’ll come, for Jesus take a stand,”
This honest soul walked up the aisle, and firmly grasped his hand,
Then all the people cast their eyes on this poor man with scorn,
And thought how can he be so bold, with clothes so old and worn?
This man’s eyes were filled with tears, he was weary and tired of sin,
But the pastor knew not what to do, he dare not take him in,
At last, he said, “Just take a seat out in the anteroom,
And think the matter o’er a bit, and I will join you soon.

And then the preacher came to him; he said, “You go and pray,
And talk to God about this thing, and come another day,
For this means much for anyone to join a church so fine,
And keep your dues paid in advance, and dress right up in line;
So you just look to God, my friend, and ask him what to do,
He will guide you day by day, and lead you safely thru.”
Now you just look to Jesus, and cast on Him your cares,
Do you suppose you’d like a church made up of millionaires.

So when this man departed, he was feeling somewhat bad,
But he met the preacher later on, and this is what he said;
“Now Reverend, I think your advice was very, very kind,
But since I’ve talked to God awhile, I’ve surely changed my mind.”
And then the preacher smiled and said, “I’m glad you feel that way,
And since you’ve talked to God, dear man, tell me, what did He say?”
“He said for me to read and pray, and do the best I could,
For even if I joined your church, that would not make me good;
And, too, God said, “Just let it go, don’t take the time to fret,
For years I’ve tried to get in there, and I haven’t made it yet.”
