WHAT OF THE NIGHT?

Many centuries ago Isaiah wrote the searching inquiry, Watchman, what of the night? Are invaders near? Have there been strange and wierd sounds, unusual for a sleeping city, or what are the signs, the forebodings, the alarms? Tell us, watchman, what are the secrets of the night? Our hearts chill with fear, apprehension stills the soul, the clouds are black, the world is serious. Watchman, what of the night?

Let the church ask this question. Let the shepherds of the flocks everywhere be serious. Wild beasts infest the earth, dark deeds like ghosts of the night rise up and threaten the peaceful pursuits of man. Does, therefore, the night reveal anything man should know?

Perhaps the imagery would carry that the church before Christ was night. Perhaps again it might pass that the church of this age is frail and faulty and will be till Jesus comes.

However, the thought that spurs me to write is, my comrades, what of the future? No one need be satisfied with the past. Even your life has darkness, tears and discouragements, they are the nights of the past.

The future is jeweled with achievement, with light, hope, advancement. Christ and Heaven are glories on before.

Let us then localize this inquiry of Isaiah of long ago. What of the church in Stow? Not much wrong with The Community Church in Stow. Now, really, isn't that a fact? It is certainly a going affair, gains momentum as the months go by. It is a great happy center for the people of Stow and for whosoever will. The Church has come up out of the depths, God has blessed and prospered the work in Stow. Very great changes may be announced officially in the near future, and now I ask, can we have a great chorus? Stow has the talent. Can we organize, have we the faith, do we have the consecration?

We should have a ladies' chorus, a men's chorus, a united chorus. We should have a ladies' quartet, a male quartet and a double quartet. We should have an evening service backed by a united chorus of seventy-five voices.

Find the Christ of Stow, find the joy of service, be committed to the church, quit serving the gods of pleasure on the Lord's Day. Come along, my friend, get into a group that will crusade for Christ.

Be not troubled about the night of Isaiah's time, or the night of his prophecy, or the night of death, but interest yourself in the day that is before us and that here in Stow. The Minister

CONCERNING

Our Business
Of Repairing Cars

WE HAVE THIS TO SAY:

1. Don't wait too long to have that repair job done. The old saying "a stitch in time saves nine" is as true today as ever. For example: To have your brakes in order may prevent a serious and costly accident.

2. Choose a responsible repair man, one who is favorably known by the work he turns out, his years of service, and, by his following of satisfied customers. No back alley, knuckle-busting mechanic ever lasts very long in any community.

3. Don't expect something for nothing. Good materials, the best of workmanship, cost money. Regardless of what others may say, in the long run you get only what you pay for—and—if honest, you will pay for what you get.

4. Let us help each other, for in so doing we will help ourselves. We will help you by using only the best materials and workmanship, all at a reasonable price. This in turn helps us thru your good will, favor and additional business.
