MY SON

This is Monday night, October 30th, Seven weeks ago this afternoon they said to me your son is dead. Dead, what a word, what a message, what a shock. They said he was dead eight hours when found locked in his car. No, I answered, it is not my son, there is some mistake, impossible, impossible. But, they said, his name is Paul Leroy Hulme.

For many hours everything about me seemed to be revolving, turning, spinning. Tonight, after seven weeks, it cuts, it stings, it paralyzes. I still cry, impossible, impossible.

A man he was, thirty-four years of age, weighed one hundred seventy-five pounds, straight as an arrow, kind, polite, genteel, bright, clever, never sick. Three years in the U. S. Navy, two years as shop policeman.

For the past few years he was not active in the Church, previous to that he grew up in the Church, was baptized, professed conversion, had profound respect for the Church and all things sacred. He often pleased me by saying, Dad, I like to hear you preach. He found the way to The Community Church on each Easter morning since I have been the minister.

Paul was unhappy in his home, in business the tide flowed out, the future to him had clouds. The depression broke his spirit. He was a man, he was proud, he seldom asked for help, he desired and expected a chance, in his own strength, in his own way he hoped to make good. He tried, he never complained, he struggled on, to me, even to the last he spoke in the most hopeful manner, I'll put it cross, I'll be out of the woods, he would say, Dad, don't worry about me.

He the young and strong who cherished
Noble longings for the strife
By the wayside fell and perish
Weary with the march of life."

So, seven weeks ago, suffering with a severe cold, discouraged alone, and without a word to friends or parents he balanced himself between two eternities, he surrendered his soul to God. He said, it is enough. He chose that his trial should end September 11th, he went out to return no more. He had no fear of death, he was brave, manly considerate of others this to a marked degree in every act of his life, except his choice of departure.

This man who hated evil, who was clean of speech, who respected women, who loved his parents, Paul, who had a personality that any man could be proud of, this man, my son, entrusted to me for thirty-four years, God gave and God hath taken away. O help me Lord to say, Blessed be the name of the Lord.

In some land beyond the ocean
Where our loved ones find a home
Is the shrine of our devotion
Whither all of our thoughts would roam.

In the great process of evolution, in the marvelous plan of the Creator we put our trust. We face the homeland dreaming of loved ones. The evening shadows fall about us, life's pathway has many wrecks, hardships and burdens are many and often grievous to bear, but hope casts a golden ray about us for ahead is the day dawn when the shadows flee away.

It cannot be God's plan that any man's end should be a failure or a wreck. Life, and life more abundantly, is the plan of the Master. So, listening hope can see a star and listening love can hear the rustle of a wing.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Many people are chasing around so fast after happiness that it can't overtake them. If they would sit down and rest awhile it would have time, perhaps, to catch up with them. —F. A. C.

Dignity....

You may rest assured that your loved ones have a dignified funeral; when you know your mortician is doing all that is possible. We try, in this respect, to give you the benefits of our serving.

SERMON

In the contest between the prophet Elijah’s God and the four hundred fifty priests of Baal, as recorded in the eighteenth chapter of first Kings, Elijah built an altar, likewise the priests of Baal. In verse twenty four, Elijah challenges the priests of Baal: “Call ye on the name of your gods and I will call on the name of the Lord, and the God that answereth by fire, let him be God.”

Last Sunday morning Rev. Hulme called our attention to the fact that both altars were no doubt quite similar in construction and appearance, also, both offerings were the same. But only on Elijah’s altar and offering did the fire descend.

Now it is Christianity that claims to supply the fire. Unless there is fire in our worship, the altar we build, the churches we have, are just piles of stone, nothing more than ornaments and club houses.

In those days (and the application is still true) the only way that the priests of Baal could supply the fire was by friction. On the other hand in Matthew 3:11 John speaking of Jesus says: “He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with fire.” Only the soul that is activated by the Savior in this way can become a savior of men.

Baal worshippers (and many there are in our churches today) do not have the fire, the Holy Spirit, in other words that intense enthusiasm, the zeal, the action, the Holy Peace that characterizes one who has been born again and is now living in and with Christ. Only formalism is the part of Baal worshipers. Death awaits them and their religion.

P. T. A.

What promises to be one of the most interesting programs of the year will be held by the P. T. A. next Tuesday, November 14th, 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Music will be furnished by the High School male quartette. Following this part of the program Miss Stuttle and her staff of teachers with a number of pupils from the Goodrich School for Deaf and Dumb will give a demonstration of their work.

A large attendance is desired. The room having the most parents present will receive a prize. With this meeting the P. T. A. membership drive closes. A prize will be awarded the room having the highest percentage of parents who are paid up members.

“Ken” Deacon, Stow Fire chief received the surprise of his life last Monday night when nearly sixty of the “Stow Boys” including Frank Green gave him a birthday surprise party. Presents included a hunting jacket, shells and such things as face powder, perfume, a rattle, a nice little blue sweater with panties attached and even washable baby pants size one to wear in case of fire, when it rains or what not.

Refreshments consisted of sandwiches and coffee with a four layer birthday cake covered with thirty-five candles. The cake was made by his mother.

GRAHAM ROAD NOTES
Attendance at Bible School last Sunday morning was one hundred seventy. Birthdays celebrated were those of “Mac” Bryan and Shirley Younkin. Wedding anniversary that of Mr. and Mrs. Brightman who have been married twenty-seven years, and Mr. and Mrs. Brillhart who have been married eighteen years.

The Adult Bible meet this Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich on Hudson Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Leasure with Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Leasure and son of Waverly, W.Va. visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Miner in Barberton last Saturday and on Sunday attended the Graham Road Church.

Something new. The Longs of Caleb Avenue have a new roof on their house.

Special note from Graham Road. Any pastor that preaches for practically nothing for several years and gives most of that which he does get to aid the building fund and reduce the debt of the church, as does the pastor of Stow Community Church, certainly must have some of the Spirit of the Lord within. Let us give him credit where credit is due.
THE TOUCH OF THE MASTER’S HAND

'Twas battered and scarred, and the auctioneer
Thought it scarcely worth his while
To waste much time on the old violin,
But he held it up with a smile.
“What am I bidden, good folk,” he cried,
“Who’ll start the bidding for me?
Half dollar—a dollar, then two,
only two—
Two dollars, and who’ll make it three?
Going for three”—but no—
From the room far back, a gray-haired man
Came forward and picked up the bow,
Then, wiping the dust from the old violin,
And tightening the loosened strings
He played a melody pure and sweet
As a caroling angel sings.
The music ceased and the auctioneer,
With a voice that was quiet and low,
Said, “NOW what am I bid for the old violin?”
And he held it up with the bow.
“A thousand dollars—and who’ll make it two?
“Two thousand and who’ll make it three?
Two thousand once, three thousand twice—
“And going—and gone,” cried he.
The people cheered, but some of them cried,
“We do not understand.
“What changed its worth?” Quick came the reply,
“The touch of the Master’s hand.”
And many a man with life out of tune,
And battered and scarred with sin,
Is auctioned cheap to a thoughtless crowd,
Much like the old violin.
A “mess of pottage”—a glass of wine,
A Game—and he travels on;
He is going once, and going twice,
He’s going—and almost gone!
But the Master comes, and the foolish crowd
Never can quite understand
The worth of a soul, and the change that’s wrought
BY THE TOUCH OF THE MASTER’S HAND.

ELECTED

As a matter of possible interest to out of town readers the successful candidates in last Tuesday's election in Stow were constables: Holley, Davis and Vaughn; trustee, well driller Anderson; School Board, Clifford, Monteith and Russell.

The board issue for sidewalks failed to receive the necessary sixty four per cent note.

Henry Williamson was elected township clerk.
