LIGHT OF THE WORLD

William Hunt, the English painter, contributes much to religious art, his masterpiece being the LIGHT OF THE WORLD. Here the great Head of Christianity is pictured as standing, waiting at a door, overgrown with vines, unopened for a long time, lantern in hand, He knocks, the latch is on the inside. All about is unkept, He waits, it is night, and this is likened unto a human heart. The picture, no doubt, was inspired by the scripture, Rev. 3:20, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock."

A pagan or an infidel would say, the sun is the LIGHT OF THE WORLD, but a Christian or a philosopher would contend that the Book records a mighty fact, Jesus is indeed the LIGHT OF THE WORLD. An inquiring mind, however, would ask, In what way is this strange and wonderful man the LIGHT OF THE WORLD for in all human history no one, save the lone prophet, has been able to claim such distinction?

Jesus is the LIGHT OF THE WORLD intellectually. In the two thousand years that have rolled the world along since Jesus lived this man still has no competitor, no equal, no one to challenge his teaching, his life, his superlative supremacy as a teacher.

Jesus turned people's hearts and minds inside out and exposed the secrets within. You have had seven husbands, Jesus said. The fish are on the other side of the ship; The temple will be torn down; Go wash in the pool of Siloam and you will see; Whose picture is stamped on the coin? It is Caesar's. Then Caesar must have some claim, said He.

The Gospel and the Book overflow with the matchless wisdom of Jesus, it is indeed a great light that rolls along centuries ahead of us, it is as though the race can never catch up with the LIGHT OF THE WORLD. Great men say, it is too much to expect of mortals, His teaching is not for this age with our civilization, His word is not practical. But his light is before us, it is depicted by the lantern and the closed door, truly, Jesus is THE INTELLECTUAL LIGHT OF THE WORLD.

He is the LIGHT OF THE WORLD morally. He draws the hearts of race away from the sordid, the low, the debased, even as the sun draws the water from the sea. He filters the brain and the soul. He sends them forth brave and spotless not to falter and fall but to conquer and be crowned. The struggle of every soul has been, and is, to extricate one's self from the low, the mire, the filth of life, of conduct, of talk, thought and deed. But Jesus lived naturally, unfolded as pure and beautiful, among a wicked and perverse folk, as a lily would in the midst of muck and noxious weeds, no life so spotless, stainless, so immaculate, so beautiful.

Morality is a flower that matures best in the light while immorality becomes more depraved and lewd in darkness, Jesus, the race's one spotless character, the inspiration of every longing soul, the moral light of all man-
So Jesus is the LIGHT OF THE WORLD spiritually. He radiated spirituality, He brought Heaven down to earth, He breathed on man the spirit of prayer, He called all people to worship, He cleansed and purified the altar of man, purged it from dross and worthless ceremonies, He touched men’s souls and turned their faces and passions toward a higher life.

Wherever He went He put the light and spirit of God in men. Thy sins are forgiven thee, take up thy bed and walk, said Jesus to the man sick of the palsy. Go and sin no more lest a worse thing befall thee, spake Jesus to the blind. How often did Jesus exclaim, O ye of little faith. No light like His light has ever shone over a benighted world.

Spiritually, Jesus was the sum total of the prophet’s dream. His beauty twinkles far above mankind like the rays of the morning star. Spiritually, He is the LIGHT OF THE WORLD.

More, He is the light of Empire, of civilization, of the jostling, crowding, contending races of men. His light is love, peace, good-will, brotherhood, service, truth, justice, and such like, against which there is no law.

The yoke of the world is grievous and hard to bear. War and destruction on land and sea is money spent for that which is not bread. O, foolish, deluded, and betrayed mankind, look to your light, a true and beautiful light. All else is darkness and oblivion.
