Community Jazz Band

The next Jazz Band concert will be at 7:00 p.m. Wednesday, September 1 in the upstairs meeting room.

Library Closings

Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library will be closed Sunday, September 5 and Monday, September 6 for Labor Day. The library will also be closed Thursday, September 9 for staff In-Service Day.

Wireless Access

Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library now has wireless internet access available to patrons on the first floor of the library.

The Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library Wireless Access policy is as follows:

Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library will provide patrons with internet access using wireless access points or hotspots at designated areas within the library. Patrons with laptops or other devices capable of wireless connections will be able to access the internet in these designated areas.

Library staff can provide patrons with general information or handouts for connecting your device to the wireless network, but cannot troubleshoot problems related to a patron's wireless device or assist in changing the devices' network settings. The library cannot guarantee that a patron's device will work with the library's wireless access points.

It is recommended that all devices connecting to the wireless network have updated anti-virus and firewall software. Users of the library's wireless network should note that the internet connection is not encrypted or guaranteed to be secure. It is recommended that users not transmit any sensitive data such as credit card information or passwords. The library is not responsible for any personal information that may be compromised through the use of our wireless access points or hotspots.

Library Board

The next meeting of Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library Board of Trustees will be Tuesday, September 28 at 7:00 p.m. in the upstairs meeting room. To read minutes from previous board meetings go to <http://www.smfpl.org/trustees.htm>.

Chapter-A-Day Online Book Clubs

Join Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library Online Book Clubs and receive chapters from popular books in your daily e-mail. Each day we'll send you a portion of a chapter. After you've read two or three chapters from a book, we'll start sending you a new one. Sign up by clicking this link www.dearreader.com/library/stow or by going to the Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library website at www.smfpl.org. Click "Adult Services," then click "Informational Websites." Scroll down and click "Bestsellers," then click "Chapter-a-Day." Choose which club you wish to join and follow the directions.

Chapter-A-Day is sponsored by the Friends of Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library.

Library Card Reminder

This is a reminder to stop by the library to check out an item at least once a year. This will keep your library card current, as well as let you see what new materials and services Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library has to offer.

Recycling

Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library is now participating in a recycling program with Abitibi Recycling Corporation called the Abitibi Paper Retriever Program. The Paper Retriever bin is located in the rear of the building and is available 24 hours. Anyone in the community can drop off the following items suitable for recycling (all items must be clean and dry): newspapers, magazines, shopping catalogs, office and school papers, and mail. Stow-Munroe Falls elementary schools and middle school also participate in this program.

Computer Use

Computers for use by adult and teen patrons are in very high demand! This is a reminder that you can reserve a computer ahead of time. Just call the Information Desk at 330-688-3295 to reserve a computer for a one-hour time limit. Computers may be reserved up to one week in advance.

Computer Training

The library offers classes for beginning computer users and more advanced users. They include Introduction to Computers, Introduction to the Internet, and training in Microsoft Word and Microsoft Excel. Classes are offered both day and evening at no charge. The computer class schedule for October will be released Monday, September 27 at 9:00 a.m. The class calendar can be viewed at www.smfpl.org/calendar.htm. Please call 330-688-3295 if you have any questions.

Computer Volunteer

Computer volunteer Tom Labbe is available to help patrons with computer questions during the following hours: Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 1:00 - 2:30.

Local History

September is Back-to-School month! Have you ever wondered about the schools, teachers, pupils of Stow's past? Take a trip down memory lane and visit with Paul Coleman, Velma Workman, and others who worked so hard and loved so much to teach Stow's young people! Displays in and near the Local History Room begin after Labor Day.

The Local History Room is looking for "a few good people." Volunteers are needed to staff the Room on afternoons or evenings once a week. The Local History Room is a unique resource for the community, providing access to Stow's 200 year history via books, maps, news clippings, photo albums and more. Volunteers will welcome visitors and help them find information, as well as perform tasks to further organize the collection. If you are at least 18 and like to sleuth out the occasional mystery, please call Bridget Hair at 330-688-3295.

Young Adults

Online Book Discussion

Students ages 10 to 17 - Join our online book discussion group by going to the Online Book Discussion page at www.smfpl.org/bookdiscuss.htm. Each month a different teen or middle grade fiction book is featured. When you've read the book, stop by this page to post a comment about it, and see what other students have to say about it. You can even comment about another book you're reading. It's like having a book discussion group without having to leave your home. There is no registration necessary.

Children's

Certified Therapy Dog

Wednesday, September 8 at 7:00 p.m.

Come meet Kelsey, a Certified Therapy Dog, and her handler Ted Maringer while he narrates the book Wilfred Gordon McDonald Partridge. This is a wonderful tale that celebrates both the exuberance of childhood and the dignity of old age. You'll be sure to love the story as much as the illustrations! The book is written by Mem fox and illustrated by Julie Vivas.

Ted Maringer is the Director of Volunteers at Harbor Light Hospice. Kelsey is a six year old greyhound that loves visiting patients in many local nursing homes and also participates in reading with child programs whenever possible.

To see Storytime days and times, please go to the Children's Department web page at www.smfpl.org/CS.htm.

Please call 330-688-3295 for further information or go to the Children's Department webpage at www.smfpl.org/CS.htm for a complete list of children's programming.

Circulation

Lucky Days

We want to share with you our excitement about celebrating 80 years of service to the Stow and Munroe Falls communities, so we are having "lucky days" at the library. We'll be hiding special symbols in select books on the adult floor. If you're lucky and find one of them in a book you're planning to check out, turn it in at the Circulation Desk for a small prize.

We hope you will join us in celebrating 80 years of service and visit the library to try YOUR luck each month!

Drive-Up Window

Don't forget about the Drive-Up Window service at Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library. This is an especially helpful service during inclement weather! The drive-up window is open during regular library hours and closes 15 minutes before library closing.

Pick 5 Bestsellers Club

How would you like to automatically be placed on the reserve list for five of your favorite popular authors? Join our Bestsellers Club and that's exactly what will happen! Just pick up a form at the Circulation Desk and join over 300 satisfied members. Are you already a member, but would like to change an author or two? Ask for an "add/delete" form at the circulation desk. It's just that easy!

Honorees

Arabica gift certificates have been awarded to the following patrons visiting the Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library recently: Janice Schrock (450,000th check-out of 2004), Jennifer Freeman (500,000th check-out), Sandra Coddington (16,000th window check-out), Yvonne Brown (17,000th window check-out), and Virginia Slagle (4,000th new registration of 2004). Congratulations!

Cardholders have their privileges at Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library!

Books on Display

A special display at the Questions and Directions Desk inside the front door features the "We the People Bookshelf on Courage" titles. The National Endowment for the Humanities and the American Library Association selected fifteen books, including picture books, novels and non-fiction books that exemplify American history and culture and depict courage. All are available for check-out.

If you would like to participate in this community program, just pick up a booklist at the Questions and Directions Desk, check off the book or books that you have read, fill in your name and phone number and turn it in. You will receive an invitation to our community reception and book discussion in October and you will also be eligible for several prizes.

Items on display are available for check-out. Please help yourself.

Quilt on Display

I Spy is a quilt recently displayed over the Circulation Desk. This colorful quilt was made by Ruthan Bengé and quilted by Janice Kiser. Each printed square is different so Ruthann can play an "I Spy" game with her grandchildren, Vincent and Nicholas. Ruthann started collecting fabrics three years ago when her first grandson was born. She enjoys quilting and teaching others to quilt. She is a member of Cascade Quilt Guild of Akron and "Going to Pieces" Quilt Guild.

Spotlight on Back-to-School

September's Spotlight shines on "Back-to-School." Once again it is time for students to be heading back to school. Stow-Munroe Falls Public Library is ready to help students of all ages with materials, programs, and online information. The Children's Department is for children up to age 12 (or through sixth grade). Children will find materials such as encyclopedias, books, videos, and magazines on the second floor of the library. Parents will find helpful materials in the special Parent/Teacher section. Watch for announcements of educational (and fun) programs, such as the upcoming "Pioneer Challenge" (Monday, Sept. 18 at 7:00) and "Land of the Frozen Tundra" (Monday, September 20 at 7:00) programs on courage. Librarians are available to assist with special requests and they work closely with Homeschoolers to provide appropriate materials. The Children's Department website at www.smfpl.org/CS.htm contains information on current activities and programs, as well as links to Homework Help and age-appropriate websites.

Teens in seventh grade and up will find Young Adult reference books, Cliffs Notes, and fiction in the "Teen Scene" section next to the videos on the first floor. Classic paperbacks (books often assigned by English teachers) are also in the Teen Section. The homework table holds books pulled for particular homework assignments, such as the Colonial project or leaf identification. Teen Librarian Christina Getrost is available to answer questions and make suggestions for Teen reading. Non-fiction books for Teens are designated by a yellow dot on the spine of the book. They are shelved with the Adult Non-Fiction books. The Teen website at www.smfpl.org/TS.htm contains current activities, links to great websites, new books, and Homework Help. The Homework Help page has pathfinders for teachers who wish to provide online information for assignments. Teens can even review books online or take part in an online book discussion.

Teens as well as college students and adults can use the library's online databases by clicking on "Research Databases" on the library's website at www.smfpl.org. Depending on the database, you can search for magazine articles, literary criticisms, authors' biographies, business information, and much more. You must have your library card to access the databases. Teens and adult students also are able to access the library's new testing and education database with their library card. Access the testing site by going through Infotrac Database. Use this database to look for colleges and graduate schools, find scholarships, and take on-line practice tests. Practice tests include ACT, SAT, MCAT, GRE, and GED.

Staff Picks

September's staff pick is the new novel An Unfinished Season by Ward Just, recommended by Reference Associate Jim Williams.

"It's a terrible thing, hatred. Terrible," says the acclaimed psychiatrist and Bataan survivor, Dr. Jason Brule, to his daughter's new boyfriend, nineteen year old Wilson Ravan, the main character in An Unfinished Season. While the story takes place in the summer of 1952, Wilson's memory of Dr. Brule's comments about hate ring true. Within the first moments of their meeting, Wilson knows that Dr. Brule is a man haunted with memories he cannot talk about or let go. Rather than the usual awkward pleasantries that pass between a father and his daughter's boyfriend, Dr. Brule talks about hatred. Hatred, he claims, "...is a product of fear. Not their hatred....Your hatred. Yours. It's your hatred of them, and this hatred becomes an obsessin to you, a passion that you can only know when you see them...these degenerates, so-called members of the human species....In your passion you become like them, and you find yourself thinking thoughts that are unimaginable and committing acts that are more unimaginable still. The line dividing them and you vanishes...."

Dr. Brule's anguished comments to a then uncomprehending Wils Ravan seem to speak directly to us. While we have not suffered the horror of what Dr. Brule calls "The Hike," we have suffered the horror of September 11. Danger lies in the control that hatred and fear can have over one's life. Like the memories that have tormented Brule's life, man in America today may be allowing the horror of 9-11 to control their beliefs, thinking, and values. Have the memories of that horrible event and the resulting fear, enhanced by frequent warnings and coded colors alerts instilled fear and hatred of things foreign, Islamic, or Arabic? Many are worried that this fear and hatred may lead to an erosion of the country's basic freedoms and values. Perhaps Brule's beliefs about fear and hate explain otherwise decent Americans acting as they did as guards in Iraqi prisons. Perhaps the fear created by the atrocities of 9-11 explains why some leading governmental figures can pronounce the Geneva Accords as "quaint." Memories, as Just explains, can be powerful motivators for both good and bad.

Actually, Just's book is not as deadly serious as Wils's meeting with Dr. Brule suggests. Essentially, the novel is about memories and how our memories are always with us, sometimes guiding and comforting us, sometimes haunting us. Young Wils lives just outside Chicago's wealthy Northcoast. Because his father is a well-known businessman, Wils is frequently invited to elegant Northcoast debutant dances. That's how he meets Aurora Brule, Dr. Brule's daughter. Also through his father's business, Wils has gotten a summer job working as a "gofer" at a seedy and gossipy Chicago tabloid. It is Wils's integration of his memories of these three often conflicting aspects of his summer of 1952 that forms the backbone of Just's wonderful novel. Just has the canny ability to conjure up the ideas, feelings, and atmosphere of 1952, and to those of us who experienced that time, his novel will jar loose many memories. Just's novel gives you cause to recall your own experiences and to understand how your memories have helped you become the person you are today. "People came into your life without warning, stayed awhile, and went away, always leaving something of themselves behind....They left their mark and remembering them was a way of remembering yourself at a certain age and how you played the hand you were given...." I believe this fine new novel by Ward Just will leave its mark on the reader and leave something of itself behind for a long time.
